

CASE STUDY

Cloud based
Smart Manufacturing
Solution Architecture and Global Deployment Definition

Client

A leading American home appliances manufacturer

Business Challenge

Client wanted to embark on Industry 4.0 journey to drive business outcome leveraging a scalable, future-ready, and cloud-enabled reference architecture that can be deployed across 9+ plants

- ➔ Disparate manufacturing system used for plant operations coupled with varying manufacturing IT landscapes across plants
- ➔ Complex manufacturing landscape with multiple legacy systems leading to data silos
- ➔ Disintegrated architecture leading to gaps in data
- ➔ Absence of a single source of truth across enterprises and plants

ITC Infotech Solution

ITC Infotech anchored multiple workshops with IT and business leadership teams of the customer to understand their existing landscapes, vision, challenges & priorities and designed a customized Industry 4.0 architecture

- ➔ Leveraged ITC Infotech's Industry 4.0 reference architecture for Manufacturing Data and Analytics Platform on cloud
- ➔ Defined IIoT deployment playbook and implementation roadmap for solution realization across plants
- ➔ Solution definition was compliant with OT cybersecurity
- ➔ Definition of data strategy based on prioritized use cases to be implemented in edge and cloud for production, planning & scheduling asset, and quality functions

Business Benefits

Scalable architecture for seamless extensibility across 9+ plants & integration with enterprise systems

Site independent architecture to ensure greater computation at site and mitigate connectivity interruption to cloud

Data aggregation and classification for enterprise-level view, can be further drilled down to regional and plant level KPIs
